NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Telegraph Office Established.

An office of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company has been established at the Norway Grand Trunk station. The instruments were put in Wednesday evening and in about three minutes after they were in, a call came from Portland with a message for H. F. & E. E. Andrews.

M. W. Chandler, the station agent, was employed in an office where the telegraph was used for 35 years before he came to Norway six years ago. He says it seems quite natural to hear the music of the instruments again.

Success of a Norway Musician.

Sellen C. Foster has returned from New York where he has been to make arrangements for the publishing of the two songs which he has recently composed. The titles are "Thoughts of Childhoods' Home," and "Heart Memories." The songs will be published in regular sheet music form by the Metropolitan Music Co. Drawings for the cover have been made which will consist of a picture of the author and a picture to illustrate the thought of the song.

Mr. Foster is a well-known musician and his many friends wish him much success.

F. E. DeCoster attended the Andover fair this week.

H. J. Bangs is having the front of his store repainted.

Roscoe Bradbury haa been very ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. Sumner Parker and Clarence Parker visited in Gilead last week.

Prof. Hitchings, State entomologist, was in Norway, Saturday and Sunday.

Thomas Smiley and Jennie Baker were in Boston this week buying goods.

Mrs. E. C. Libby and Mrs. Mary Reavey are visiting Mrs. Arthur W. Penley, in Auburn.

Edson S. Bastin of the U. S. Geological Survey, was recently in Norway, making investigations pertinent to Maine mineral geological resources.

Ruby Jordan has found a strawberry blossom "way up awful far." She had been hunting after them and found two, but one of them she lost. She was all out breath when she reached the office with it.

Col. A. S. Hapgood has sold the double tenement on Green street to A. J. Stearns, and Mr. Stearns has sold this place to James E. Roy of Berlin. Mr. Roy, whose family lives in Norway, is engaged in business in Berlin. He intends to repair the house and make it his home.

Rev. B. S. Rideout did not preside at the State conference of Congregational churches at Lewiston, as reported in the last week's issue of the ADVERTISER but was elected moderator of the conferance which will be held in Williston church Portland, next year. This office is the highest in the State conference and it is a great honor for our Norway pastor, but his townsmen think it is deserved. We have often said that in business affairs, Mr. Rideout has as much sound judgment and knowledge as any minister we ever met and no one will doubt his spirituality. Many think that preachers do not need world knowledge, but in the humble opinion of an on looker that if a man is to fight the world and its wickedness it is a good deal necessary to have a thorough understanding of what he is warring against. The remark of doubt we have sometimes heard of preachers who have shown a lack of being conversant in business, "If he don't know any more about spiritual affairs than he does of temporal, I should hate to trust myself to his guidance," can never be said of Mr. Rideout. The Bible itself approves of the wisdom of the serpent combined with modesty.

The Gospel Meetings.

The Gospel meetings under the leadership of Rev. C. L. Evarts of New York, opened Sunday evening at the Congregational church. A large chorus and a good audience were present. Mr. Evarts introduced new singing books and the chorus readily sung the new selections. The book contains the "Glory song," and the hymn attracting general attention throughout the country entitled "The King's Business."

Mr. Evarts' Sunday evening sermon was to the christian people. It was a strong, candid, spiritual presentation of the truth, from the text in Acts 8:8, "And there was great joy in that city."

In the Monday evening meeting all the churches were represented by pastor and people.

Now I want to say just a word to the people of this community. We are doing this work hoping to benefit the whole community morally and spiritually. No ism is preached! Nothing is said that ought to offend any one of whatever name or denomation. Mr. Evarts' addresses are Biblical, spiritual, and inspiring. Our aim is to benefit every home and every individual. We are working along those lines which we believe and which history overwhelmingly proves are for the building of the purest and noblest christian character, a character that fits one to live here in this world and do good. The true christian charater includes the virtues, honesty, industry, truthfulness, purity, kindness, love. We believe in the necessity of divine aid, that we all need to seek.

For the sake of the hundreds of children and young people in town now forming character, for the sake of those who are older who are not right with their Heavenly Father or their fellow men, for the sake of home and church and the best interests of the town and State, for Christ's sake, I call upon the good people of Norway to come up to the work. No man can excuse himself and be indifferent to this movement and say within himself "It does not concern me."

It does concern you and every individual. If you really wish for the moral and religious uplift of this community, will you not take some responsibility and lend your presence and your definite approval? Let every body come to the services.

Meetings every afternoon at 3.15 except Saturday and Monday. Meetings every evening at 7 30 except Saturday evening. A great mass meeting in the Opera house, Sunday afternoon, at 3.30, for men only. B. S. RIDEOUT.

Noted Men in Norway.

Much interest is taken in the revival meetings being held at the Congregational church. Rev. C. L. Evarts, who has charge of the meetings, is a good speaker. Mr. Evarts has written to F. H. Jacobs, the well known singer who traveled with Evangelist Dwight L. Moody for many years, to come to Norway and assist in the meetings. It is not known as yet whether he can come or not but all are hoping that he will.

Should he come he will preach the sermon on Sunday morning. Mr. Jacobs has a national reputation as a singer and it is only that he is now on a vacation and a little rest that we could ever hope of hearing him in Norway.

Mr. Evarts is a noted evangelist all through this country. He has been engaged in the work for many years. He is not only a fine speaker but singer as well. He conducts the singing himself and has his chorus well trained. Mrs. H. L. Horne is the accompanist. Mr. Evarts' playing on the harp is well worth hearing if there was nothing else in these meetings. He is an accomplished musician and his fine strong voice heard in solo with harp accompaniment or leading the chorus is an inspiration.

In explaining the old and familar passages of scripture he brings out many a new and hidden meaning that while we have read these all our life we have never thought of. Every evening and every service he takes a new theme to talk on and goes over the ground once, so those who attend but once hear but one of the subjects treated. Wednesday evening it was the backslider. "And Peter followed Jesus a far off." Many of us never thought of Peter as the first backslider. We all know the story of the prodigal son who backslid from the goodness of his father's house, yet one especially new point he brought out was that his being a Jew made the degredation of his fall all the more loathsome to him that he was obliged to associate with swine and even eat their food. The hog to the Jew is the most unholy animal. So it brought before our minds not only the physical dishonor but the mental and spiritnal agony of the transgresser.

Let every man in town remember the men's meeting at the Opera House, Sunday afternoon at 3 30. Rev. C. L. Evarts of New York will give the address. The same talk has been given to audiences of thousands in the largest cities of the country and has met with great favor. All will be well paid for coming. Boys under 14 years of age are not admitted.

Grace Bennett was in Lewiston over Sunday.

The Four Ponds' fishing party were recently entertained at Camp Cinnamon by F. W. Sanborn. Those present were: E. E. Andrews, John F. Swain, John C. Shepherd of Norway; A. W. Walker, Walter L. Gray, W. O. Frothingham and Fred P. Chandler of South Paris, and Frank P. Bennett and another gentleman from Harrison. John A. Woodman of the Beal's hotel and John Swain served the dinner.

Zubie and Max, F. W. Sanborn's Airdale terriers, made friendship with a hedgehog, Sunday. The result was that it took Dr. E. C. Walker several hours to remove the quills. It was eleven o'clock at night before he finished the job. Two sad, sore-mouthed dogs are much wiser. The first attack did not quite satisfy the dogs, and Wednesday they tried to vanquish another hedgehog. Dr. Walker's services were again called for.

Norway Grange.

The next meeting comes on the 13th and will be an all-day meeting, opening at 11 o'clock. The customary dinner will be given, that is, baked beans and pastry. Prof. G. M. Gowell of the Agricultural college at Orono will be present to speak on poultry raising. Also Mrs. Kate Ellis of Fairfield, State Deputy, will speak.

The afternoon meeting will be open to the public. All people, farmers or otherwise, who are interested in poultry are cordially invited to come in at 1.30 p. m. and hear Prof. Gowell.

Members of the Grange are urged to avail themselves of this opportunity to hear good speaking on highly important subjects. The production of eggs and poultry is one of the most extensive and profitable lines of work on the farm. New practices are coming into use that all should understand.

About 75 members of this Grange attended Pomona at South Waterford on Tuesday. The weather was delightful and a very pleasant and profitable day was spent with Bear Mountain Grange. By the way, Bear Mountain Grange knows how to do things about as well as any grange we know of. They always treat people "handsome."

A Successful Business.

Lewis I. Gilbert, who has been in business in Norway for 21 years, says that as far as he knows he was the first to bring Western beef into Norway. When he came here only domestic beef was sold. General Beal, then proprietor of the Beal's house, Freeland Howe and C. L. Hathaway persuaded Mr. Gilbert to get and keep on sale western beef. Since that time a large amount of it has been sold here. Mr. Gilbert was also the first to prepare and put on the market pressed corn beef. During the summer season he prepares and sells 100 pounds of this each week. He was the first to introduce Hamburg steak here. The first to bone roasts and poultry for his customers.

Mr. Gilbert began business at his present location on Main street in January, 1886. At that time he was in partnership with C. E. Foss, who is now in business at "the falls." They kept a meat market and grocery store as has Mr. Gilbert since then. The firm was known as Gilbert & Foss until the fire of 1894, when the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Gilbert located at the place now occupied by O. P. Brooks. In 1894 Mr. Gilbert sold to O. P. Brooks, and later located at his present place near the High school building.

Maud Allen is in Mrs. G. A. Allen's millinery store.

James Kelley was at home from Portland over Sunday.

Dr. F. N. Barker is putting in a sidewalk on Danforth street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kimball spent Sunday at W. S. Sloan's.

Albert Scribner of West Paris is working for C. B. Cummings & Sons.

Clement Ward and family were at their cottage by the lake over Sunday.

Karl Lester Tower was confined to the house the first of the week by sickness.

Abbie Curtis is having a vacation which she will spend in West Paris and Auburn.

Rev. S. G. Davis will preach next Sunday on the subject, "Conversion and Regeneration."

Ethel Proctor of Auburn, accompanied by a lady friend, has been visiting her friends here.

Mamie Longley, who has been visiting her brother, L. M. Longley, has returned to Raymond.

Charles F. Ridlon was in Portland, Saturday, to attend a meeting of Royal Arch Chapter of Masons.

Mrs. Frank Kimball led the singing at the Universalist church last Sunday. She will also lead next Sunday.

The Barton reading club holds its first meeting of the season Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Freeland Howe.

A new 60-horse power engine has been ordered for the pumping station, which will take the place of the two small ones now in use.

The Herald Square moving pictures entertained a good sized house at the Opera house, Wednesday evening. The exhibition was very good.

W. R. Kimball, wife and two children returned to Lancaster, Mass., last Monday. They have been visiting friends in this vicinity the past two weeks.

Mrs. Emma Mann, Mrs. Alice Oxnard, Addie Shattuck and Alice Abbott are among those who are attending the Universalist convention in Portland this week.

Jennie Tibbitts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Tibbetts, of Hotel Tibbets, Auburn, and Mrs. Walter Jenkins of Monmouth, were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Young over Sunday.

Fred. L. Haynes, the man who is in Norway repairing the clock and tower, has published a poem, "The Deer Hunt," in four parts, the meet, the camp, the chase, the return. It is descriptive of a hunt in the woods in which he took part, and is told in a vivid and off hand manner.

Etta Nevers entertained a party of eight young people at her home on Tuesday evening. Welsh rarebit and fancy crackers were served. Games were played and much amusement had by "cracking" practical jokes. A duet was rendered by Edith Parker and Carl Boynton, readings by A. L. Buck and piano solo by Emma Abbott.

Almon Tyler has nearly finished his house next to Central Park. He paid J. J. Emeley $75 for the Putnam lot and foundation and built on it a snug looking cottage. Most of the work was done by him though he did employ Mell Rowe and Vet Estes for a few days. Mr. Tyler has recently traded into an eight weeks old bull pup of the Guy Buck breed of South Paris.

Frank A. Eastman, the Harrison stage driver, gave the Lewiston Journal reporter a startling piece of news, Monday. He said that Charles Fogg of Harrison got shot that morning. Earnest inquiries on the part of the reporter revealed the fact that the aforesaid Fogg got a pound of shot at Hollis H. Caswell's that morning. It wasn't the kind of shot the reporter was looking for.

Visiting Norway.

For a week or more Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth E. Young, of 40 Main street, have been entertaining Mrs. George H. Jackson, of Lynn, Mass., who has been renewing acquaintances made both in Norway, Woodstock and West Paris, on the occasion of a visit to this locality one year ago. All the points of interest have been viewed, trips to our beautiful spots and a gala time made for their gust by Mr. and Mrs. Young.

On Friday last, Mr. Jackson, who for the past five years has been a member of the Massachusetts Legislature, joined Mrs. Jackson, and he, too, in three short days became entraced with our magnificent scenery, as well as captivated by the hospitality of those of our people with whom he came in contact. The prettiest trip made, in the opinion of the Jacksons, was on Sunday when with Mr. and Mrs. Young, Mrs. George O. Fogg and Lewis W. Fogg, they took a 25 mile ride, going first to Woodstock where they were entertained at the homestead of Hiram Y. Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Bacon doing the honors in handsome style, assisted by George O. Fogg. On the return a drive was taken around the lake, and landmarks pointed out were noted with interest by the visitors.

The beauties of the village of Norway, however, struck Mr. and Mrs. Jackson most forcibly, they told the ADVERTISER man, and they are willing to be considered as annual visitors to this splendid Oxford county town. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson returned to Lynn, on Monday, with a thorough appreciation of the kindness shown them by Mr. and Mrs. Young and other old and new friends.

Exhibit of Pictures.

The school authorities and others especially interested in educational matters have taken advantage of an offer made by the Henry K. Turner Co. of Boston, and are to hold an exhibition of pictures from stock of this company on Saturday afternoon and evening, Oct. 13, at Concert hall. The collection will include several thousands dollars' worth of prints, many of them beautifully hand-colored, reproductions of famous pictures by modern artists as well as by the old masters. An entertainment will be given in the evening, and refreshments served.

The management of the affair is in the hands of the senior class at the high school. Further notice will be given concerning it in next week's ADVERTISER.

J. F. Swain and wife are visiting relatives and friends at Fryeburg, and taking in the fair.

H. F. Andrews returned from the West, Wednesday morning, where he has been to buy horses.

C. B. Cummings & Sons have been repairing several breaks in their steam pipes on Main street.

Frank Fuller has moved from the Fuller block into George A. Kenerson's house on Whitman street.

The clerks at S. B. & Z. S. Prince's were served a supper at Mrs. Charles Ridlon's Tuesday evening.

Master Otis M. Jones returned to Boston with his grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Otis M. Jones and Mary E. Jones, as their guest.

Grace Goodwin and Frank Moore recently took a trip to Toronto. On their return they brought a nephew with them for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Young were in Portland, Thursday and Friday. They saw Maxine Elliot in "Her Great Match," Thursday evening, at the Jefferson.

Mrs. John Saylor of Portland visited her son, Owen Brooks, over Sunday. Mrs. G. H. Hill and daughter of Falmouth also spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Brooks.

Anna Heath of Sumner, at one time a teacher in the Norway high school, and afterwards a successful teacher in the South, was taken to the asylum in Augusta this week.

Charlotte Sullivan and Ethel Proctor of Auburn spent Sunday with Miss Proctor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Proctor, on Cottage street. They made the trip by automobile.

V. W. Hills went to Waldoboro the first of the week. He was there last week with his automobile and it rained so that he did not care to drive it home so he made another trip to get it.

Among those who attended the Fryeburg fair from Norway were Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Barnes, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Bartlett, E. E. Andrews, P. Richardson, A. J. Stearns and S. Harriman.

Will Harmon is to do some trapping this season. He and his wife were in Brownfield recently and called on Freeman Sanborn, who has 39 fox hounds. Will is planning on setting one hundred traps.

F. H. Beck has been spending a few days at his father's, L. H. Beck's, South Woodstock and has no doubt traveled the woods with gun in hand the same as he did "when a boy and lived on the farm."

Mrs. Lester Cowan lost her trunk en rout from Bangor to Norway. As this was on the return of their wedding trip besides much valuable clothing the trunk contained several gifts from friends.

George L. Walker and wife and Miss Keeley of Somerville, Mass., who have been spending the summer at Maplewood, N. H., and at Mechanic Falls, are now the guests of Catherine E. Walker of Norway.

The Universalists of the State of Maine hold the session of their Sunday school and Y. P. C. U. convention at Woodfords the 2nd, 3rd and 4th of this month. Rev. S. G. Davis and delegates from the church in this village attended.

Mrs. Lillian Bicknell Leadbetter of Swampscott, Mass., has been at her old home at East Stoneham for the past seven weeks caring for her mother, Mrs. M. Bicknell, in her last sickness. Mr. and Mrs. Leadbetter returned to their Massachusetts home last Monday.

Merton Tower has broken his arm. He has hard luck with his arms for a few years ago he broke his other arm. He was somewhat consoled by reading of a boy who had broken both of his arms at once, and said he was glad he did not have two broken ones to trouble him.

Made Up as a Crook.

O. W. Brown had an article in the last Sunday's New York World's Magazine Section, "Trying to be Arrested in New York." There is a large picture of Osman made up as James F. Nason, the crook. He has in his hand a suspicious looking bundle. He and a companion carrying a well stuffed suit-case took according to the story an eighteen mile journey in New York City in the small hours of the night during four nights and one night rode in a cab without lights and they were only stopped by one policeman.

Osman starts his story with "All a thief has to do these days is to be well dressed and unmindful of the presence of a policeman," said a professional thief to me. "If he keeps his head, you may rest assured that he will be passed unchallenged at all hours of the day or night. It makes no difference how large his bundle of swag or how suspicious in appearance the bundle may be—all he has to do is keep his nerve. All the crooks know that, and they are fully aware that the people have little or no protection."

Excursion to Boston.

The annual excursion to Boston occurs Oct. 15th. Tickets good going on any train of that day, and good returning up to the 22nd. All-rail from Norway and return $4.55, or boat $3.15.

Geo. P. Locke was at home the first of the week.

Mrs. B. F. Bradbury now drives their automobile.

Fred Hosmer, who has been very sick, is improving.

Mrs. S. H. Wetherbee is having her house painted.

John Jenkins of Lewiston is clerking at the Beal's hotel.

Hosea Abbott is grading his lawn and laying a new walk.

F. H. Beck is on his annual hunting trip at West Paris.

A. P. Bassett is on a hunting trip at his camp in Lovell.

George Robinson was in Bethel, Wednesday, on business.

Since the 26d of June, Miss Libby has made 10,000 post cards.

Mrs. G. F. Stone is visiting her parents at Waterford this week.

Mrs. L. M. Smith is visiting Sarah Staples at West Auburn.

Freeland Howe returned from Upper Dam the last of the week.

Fred Cummings' little dog Hercules died Sunday. He was buried at Goat Island.

Charles Johnson while "on the post" tells us that Calvin Mains of South Casco was in town, Wednesday.

John A. Woodman intends to start next week for a trip to Molunkus Lake. He will go on a hunting trip of ten days.

Mrs. C. H. Cowan and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Allison and daughter of Stonington, Conn., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cowan over Sunday.

Rev. Merton Snow and his mother and friends from Old Orchard are at Swan's Cottage, Pinehurst, on west shore of Lake Pennesseewassee, enjoying this lovely autumn weather.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. C. Barnard of Beverly, Mass., who have been visiting their cousin, Mrs. Nina F. Young, for a week or more, returned to Beverly, Saturday, after a most enjoyable visit.

The Epworth League held a business meeting, Wednesday night. Matters of business were taken up, after which games and graphophone selections were played. Refreshments were served.

F. J. McCarthy is visiting in Dixfield, where he will recuperate for three weeks. Immediately upon his return to Norway he will begin rehearsals for the play, "Forgiven," which will be played here in the near future.

H. J. Bangs' new front door is a beauty with its wood carving, its oval plate glass and the plate glass sidelights. The grounds about the house are being graded in view of extending the cement sidewalk between the store and the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lang of South Boston have been staying with Mrs. Lang's cousin, Mrs. George O. Fogg, for a fall visit. They returned home the latter part of the week, intending to make stops at Portland and other places en route.

At a special meeting of the Universalist ladies' circle, Monday afternoon, Mrs. E. F. Bicknell was elected president; Mrs. T. H. Sawin, vice president; and Mrs. James Danforth, treasurer. Plans were made for a circle this month.

Mrs. L. E. Curtis of Wellington, Mass., before marriage Ollie E. Gerry of South Paris, was operated on for appendicitis at the Clinton Hospital at Somerville last Sunday. She is getting on nicely. Mr. Curtis is assistant cashier of the Pullman Car Co. of Boston.

G. H. Bennett has quite a curiosity in the shape of a small Swiss music box, which has been in his family for over 60 years. It formerly belonged to an uncle of his who was a jeweler and in the early fifties started from Boston for the California gold fields but was never seen or heard from after he left Boston.

Carroll E. Edwards of South Paris is a new conductor on the Norway & Paris Street Railway. L. Winslow, also of South Paris, is the new motor man, who takes the place of Ray Bennett, who has given up the position on account of his health. He will remain with the company doing other work. Shirley Chapman, who has been employed by the company, has finished work and is now working as baggage master at the Grand Trunk station at South Paris.

The annual communication of Oxford Lodge, No. 18, F. & A. M., was held at Masonic hall, Friday evening. Business. Reports of offiders for year. Election of officers. The election resulted as follows:

S. W.—H. F. Andrews.
J. W.—E. H. Allen.
Treas.—L. M. Smith.
Sec.—B. D. Smith.
Trustees of the Charity Fund for three years—E. F. Bicknell, Howard D. Smith, and A. J. Stearns.

Following the work in the third degree a banquet was served at which a large number of members enjoyed an hour of social intercourse.

Made a 33d Degree Mason.

At a recent meeting of the Supreme Council of the Northern Jurisdiction held at Boston of the Ancient & Accepted Scottish Rite Masons of the 33d Degree, Hon. A. S. Kimball of this town was admitted to membership.

Mr. Kimball is much interested in Masonry, having been Grand Master of Maine and is now Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Council, also first Lieut. Commander of Maine Consistory.

There are only 32 thirty-third degree Masons in Maine and Mr. Kimball is the only one in Oxford county.

Methodist Church.

Last Sunday was Decision day at the Methodist church. The subject of the sermon by the pastor, Rev. C. A. Brooks was "Deciding for Christ," and ten or more young people took a stand to lead a Christian life. Next Sunday will be Communion Sunday. The service will commence with a Love feast at 9.30.

In the afternoon the pastor will preach at the North Chapel at the usual hour.

Carl Stone has returned to Bowdoin college.

F. H. Noyes was in Rumford Falls, Tuesday.

The Camp Cinnamon boys will go on their hunting trip the 13th.

A. L. Cook is enjoying some of these fine days woodchuck hunting.

W. D. Kelley has gone to New Mexico, where he has employment on a railroad.

Wm. C. Cole and workmen are to put new sills under a portion of the Bartlett store.

Abbie M. Stone of New Haven, Conn., visited her brother, F. P. Stone, last week.

Fannie M. Crooker of South Boston, Mass., visited relatives and friends here last week.

Samuel Scribner has recently put on some new roofing at G. H. Bennett's paint shop.

Mrs. J. M. French, who has been at Peak's Island for several weeks, returned home, Monday.

The engagement is announced of Ella A. Edgecomb to Victor L. Partridge, both of this town, the wedding to take place sometime in November.

H. J. Bangs, W. F. Jones and Clarence Downing have returned from a trip to Stoneham and vicinity. They went by A. L. Bangs' automobile and were his guests.

Preaching service at the Center church will be held at 1:30 o'clock next Sunday afternoon, in place of the Sunday school, which has been discontinued for the season.

SOUTH PARIS.

A Pleasing Entertainment.

The Marshall sisters under the auspices of the Good Cheer society gave a very dainty and pleasing entertainment at New Hall on Saturday evening. Edith and Ethelyn Marshall play a large variety of instruments and Cora E. Marshall is accompanist on the piano. Besides the musical part of the entertainment there were character songs, reading and impersonations. The entire entertainment gave perfect satisfaction to those who heard it.

Cole—Andrews.

A pretty wedding occurred at the at the home of Mrs. Wallace Ryerson at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, when Clara C. Andrews of this place and Charles Archie Cole of Poland Springs were united in marriage by Rev. J. H. Little, pastor of the Universalist church of which Mrs. Andrews was an active member. Mr. Cole is superintendent of the bottling works at the Poland Spring House.

They left immediately after the wedding for New York, where they will spend a few weeks, and on their return will make their home at Poland Springs.

AN OLD MAN'S TRIBUTE.

An Ohio Fruit Raiser, 78 Years Old, Cured of a Terrible Case After Ten Years of Suffering.

When suffering daily torture
From backache, rheumatic pain,
Any ill of kidneys or bladder,
Turn to Doan's Kidney Pills.
A cure endorsed by thousands.
Read an old man's tribute.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything, and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the daytime, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful, and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."

SIDNEY JUSTUS.

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Justus will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

A Good Man Gone.

A good man gone; an honest man, and brave,
Has journeyed to that land beyond the grave;
A kindly man who ne'er oppressed the poor
When sickness or misfortune crossed their door.
With ready hand to help the sore distressed,
He toiled until the summons came to rest;
His is the record of a life well spent,
Living the Golden Rule he lived content;
Our loss, his gain, he hears the glad "Well done
Thou good and faithful servant; Welcome home!"

Step by Step.

Step by step we climb the mountain,
Step by step we go through life,
And each little word of kindness
Helps us on our weary strife.

Step by step through all the pathways,
Of the course which you've begun,
Have courage a little longer
Then your life-long course is done.

Step by step you've struggled onward,
Though the way seemed dark and drear;
Soon you'll see the sunshine gleaming
All the storm will disappear.

Step by step go on and upward,
Do each day the best you can,
You have only just the present,
Then improve it while you can.

About Moonshine.

Superstitions, Magic and Fantasies Associated With the Moon.

The moon is shining full upon my face as I lie in bed; it is rather strange to her direct stare. She is a pagan priestess and is luring me out to worship occult powers. Centuries of Christianity have not converted her.

There is a common superstition against sleeping in the moonlight; you must not even drink water, be it from cup, river or fountain, on which the moonlight is falling. The sun is wholesome, life-giving, purifying, an enemy of mystery and of evil spirits. The moon is weird and uncanny, a weaver of magic spells, the patroness of all that is obscure and ghostly.

She sways the tides of the sea and the minds of men. Many persons if they find the moon shining upon them at night would arise and draw the curtain.

But I will laugh at such absurd fantasies and cast away the dreams of moonridden men. She is the shepherdess of the skies, leading forth the stars and the fleecy cloudlets to their broad azure pastures. She is the exiled wife of the sun, and the stars are her children.

She is the friend of the harvesters, as her light falls on the cornfields in a calm, mellow flood, in which they are laboring.

It is beautiful to see her bathing the shacks of grain; there can be nothing unkindly or malevolent in such a stream of light, though there may be something mystic.

She sees some things that the sun can never see; he is blinded with excess of light; compared with his, her light is as water compared with wine. It can wash the tree tops in silver, but it cannot penetrate their umbrageous depths. it cannot illume the shadows as the sun can.

But it can do something that the sun never does; it can render the barest and baldest scene poetical, and can transfigure the unsightly into loveliness and symmetry. It has the glory of the half light; the depth and suggestiveness of partial obscurity. Sunlight is at its best in rising or in setting, but the moonlight is at its best in its noontide; though the moon herself may appear most alluring when she is a mere fleeting crescent.

Heine tells us how, when he was a boy, the moon called him from his bed to the garden, where a lovely statue of the Green goddess was lying among the grass and bushes. He tells us how the thought of that statue brought him to the spot—how he stooped and pressed his lips passionately on those of the goddess; and the kiss thrilled his memory ever after, the first impassioned kiss of youth.

It was the moon that wrought the magic. The sun would have stared rudely at the overthrown image and laughed at the dead faith it symbolized, but the moon loved it and sympathized with it.

For the moon's whole life is a reflection and a memory; she is the nurse of recollections, the friend of forlorn hopes, the remembrances of dead faiths and bygone fancies. She can reach corners of the mind that the sun does not enter. Sometimes these corners are dank and noisome, haunts of remorse or of madness. This is not her fault; she would purify them if she could. It is not her fault that we deem her the mother of madness and style foolish dreams as moonshine.

She can smile peacefully and lovingly on the slumbers of a child and bring nothing but images of fairyland to soothe his slumbers; she can gaze fondly on the meeting of youth and maiden, where there is nothing but innocent love and faith. It is not her fault if the vicious, unwholesome and criminal thrust themselves under her notice. She would far rather watch the calm sleeping of the babe, the nest of the bird on the treetop, or on the cottage eaves; she loves also to glide above the graves where tired mortals lie in slumber.

She will gaze through the ived windows of the village church, but she cannot carry the stain of colored casements with her—her light passes through them to fall white and misty. In this she differs from the sun, which can be transfigured while it transfigures. The moon is colorless beyond her own vague gold and she does not carry her color.

But sometimes the atmosphere of an autumn night can transform her whiteness of blood and the passing clouds can play many tricks with her appearance. It is she that enables them to turn their silver linings to the light; but they can veil her or mask her entirely.

Folks say that the moon will eat the clouds; but the victory is not always hers. It is fine in a tempest to watch them flying past her, for a moment leaving a casement through which she can gaze and then give us one fleeting glimpse of her light through a chaotic wreckage of cloud drift. A mass of blackness will blot out every glimmer then a break in the clouds will come once more, showing the moon in a deep blue lake of peacefulness and permanent calm. The trouble of the heavens is only skin deep, the welter of broken clouds, the passing of titanic blackness; a few miles above is the restful and unchangeable realm of eternal peace.

Prize Numerical Enigma.

The whole, composed of 30 letters, forming nine words, is an old and true proverb.

3, 22, 25, is a female fowl.
7, 18, 10, is to disfigure.
12, 8, 21, is a small horse.
15, 28, 2, is a cave or retreat.
14, 20, 9, is a road or path.
15, 5, 27, is to buzz.
17, 24, 6, is a resinous substance.
23, 1, 29, is a vessel for liquids.
26, 16, 19, is to make brown.
30, 4, 11, is the female deer.

The vessel for liquids is not pan, cup or mug, but I am not going to tell you the word needed. Send the answer when found to PUZZLER, Box 55, West Bethel, Me., and enclose a two-cent stamp. The letters of all complying with this request will be numbered as received and opened and to the first I will send a novel by Alexander Dumas; to the 5th, The Great American Puzzle Book; to the 10th, Longfellow's Hiawatha; to the 15th, five souvenir postal cards; to the 20th, one dozen steel pens; to the 25th, Dramatic Recitations; and to the 30th, a year's subscription to Farm Young Folks. The solution should be sent in season to reach me by Oct. 20.

The answer to the September enigma is:

"Joy and Temperance and repose
Slam the door on the doctor's nose.

Eight sent the correct solution in the order here given:

1. Reba Thurlow, South Paris.
2. Rena Martin, East Grisfield.
3. Mrs. G. R. Paine, Baldwinville, Mass.
4. E. W. Edwards, Oxford.
5. Mrs. Susie A. Blake, Denmark.
6. Mrs. Walter Bradley, Nashua, N. H.
7. Mrs. Alice F. Prescott, South Paris.
8. Mrs. Nellie Brown, North Bridgton.

The September prize winners are Reba Thurlow, South Paris, and Susie A. Blake. Mrs. Blake was the eighth solver of the August enigma, but her name was accidently omitted. The enigmas appearing monthly in this paper are written solely for the amusement of readers of the ADVERTISER, and now that long evenings have come I hope a larger number will manifest their interest in them by sending answers.

Robert C. Bisbee goes to Louisiana, where he is employed as chief chemist in a sugar mill near New Orleans. About the first of the new year he will go to Porto Rico as chemist in a large sugar mill.

Fred B. Howe of East Bethel has been appointed tax collector by the selectmen to collect the unpaid taxes from the years 1905 and 1906, which T. N. Jewett, who died recently, had not collected. Mr. Jewett was chosen collector in 1905 and again in 1906 and in all there were some $10,000 in taxes unpaid at the time of his death.

She was a mite of a thing, with a lot of brown hair that fell well down over her shoulders. His hair, too, was long, but it was white, and so was his beard. She was sitting on his knee playing with his whiskers and pretending to tie them into knots. All at once she stopped and looked straight at him.

"Grandpa, she said, "what makes your hair so white; are you old?"

It was so sudden that he was taken aback and I thought I saw just a little glisten in his kindly eyes as he hugged and kissed her.

"No," he said, "grandpa is still young. It is the house he lives in that is getting old."

Must Use The Knife

Said the Surgeon, but Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was taken and the Knife Avoided.

The Union and Advertiser of Rochester, N. Y., recently published the following interesting account of how William W. Adams of 127 South Avenue, that city, was saved from a painful operation by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

Mr. Adams said: "Three years ago I was taken with kidney disease very badly; at times I was completely prostrated; in fact, was so bad that the day was set for the doctors to perform an operation upon me. But I decided I would not submit. I had been put in hot water baths, and, in fact, nearly every means was tried to help me. Upon the day set for the operation I commenced the use of and from that moment began to gain, and it was not long before I was entirely cured and have had no return of the trouble since. My weight has increased and I never was so well as I am now. I have recommended Dr Kennedy's Favorite Remedy to many people for it saved my life."

Their Glorious Fall Beauty a Great Attraction for the Nature Lover.

And now, at hand, are the glorious days of October, when every impulse is alert and when humanity, as well as all nature, is atune to the music of the golden October weather.

To many, the fall is the dreary time of all the year, and speaks only of passing life; in fact they see in every detached leaf not the glorious fulfillment of Nature's purposes, but rather the cutting off of a life, the ending of a career that, within its limitations, is full of delight and the glory of accomplished purpose. In the sear and yellow leaf they see cause for mourning, even while they overlook the bracing stimulant of the accompanying fall days that are like wine in one's blood, stirring him on continually to greater exertions, to a keener zest in living, to a more determined following of the almost hidden forest trail that, to the unitiated eye, is but a confused mass of fallen leaves, or here and there a mark in the soft mould of the carpet of the forest.

And one and another cries out against the wickedness, the cruelty of all this ruthless, even useless slaughter that is, so they argue, but the wanton taking of life that a wail may be decorated with the head of a creature sentient with life before the fata. bullet laid it low. True, to secure the head of the game for a decoration, the hide for a rug or the meat for the strengthening of the inner man, life must be taken; but is there any more wickedness in shooting one of these wild things, with a consequent utilization of the entire creature, after pitting against its wariness the skill of a human being, than the leading up to the ring bolt of the helpless beef, to be knocked on the head without so much as causing a thought in the minds of those who cry out against the brutality of the chase?

There is no air in all the year, like unto the air of the golden October days in the wonderful woods, where all is still save for the rustling of the leaves in the gentle breeze, the soft footfall of the deer as, ever so cautiously, it slips around the clump of bushes or trees and with them for a guard silently fades away out of range, or with snort of surprise and fear, leaps, twenty-foot bounds out of sight, before you can remember that you have a rifle in your hands.

Past and gone is the enervating heat of the summer, when one's very life seems almost to stand still at times with the intensity of the atmosphere, and General Humidity marshalls his forces and forbids one to exercise overmuch lest he fall ill of the pressure on his heart. Neither have we reached those crisp, biting days of the Frost King's reign, when fingers and toes, noses and ears fall, like the dead leaves of the deciduous trees, before his blighting breath that, for those who can stand it, is at the same time refreshing, stimulating, health-giving, in the vigor of its blast.

Neither of these extremes is met with, but there is—to be enjoyed to its utmost, guarded and appreciated the more jealously because so brief—the happy medium of the October days, when the early dawn bites one almost as if Winter were upon him, and mid-day lifts from his shoulders coat and sweater, till the approach of night once more calls for the protection of the body not yet inured to the changes in temperature sure to come a few weeks later.

There is more health, more stimulation of the right sort, more real lasting and never-to-be-forgotten enjoyment in these days of October than those know who have not drunk of their elixir, and tasted of their charm.

To get their greatest good, one should fill his lungs with their earliest fragrance, with the rising of the sun over yonder mountain; and so long as old Sol's rays flood with golden glory the slopes of the hills the invigoration provided by a bountiful Creator should be drunk, knowing that, only too soon, it will be gone beyond recall. And the deer?

They, and the moose, and the bears, and all the lesser game animals and game birds, are but the incentive; placed within these beautiful forests as a lure, to tempt man forth from his ways of pleasure and of idleness; that his blood may course swiftly through his veins; that the tan may cover the city pallor of his skin, and the system receive, as Nature intended it should, its heritage of good health.

In slothful, passive recreation men would sit were it not for the game, to shoot which most men must tramp, and tramp, and tramp till the labor brings once again the natural weariness of childhood's days when, in utter forgetfulness of all but tired nature, he falls into that refreshing rest that, to the great majority of city dwellers, is scarcely known outside of those magic days given oven to their "annual vacation."

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The Devil Was in Them.

This is one of "Mark Tapley's" stories: Among the hills of Oxford county, many years ago, lived a professional pedagogue named Jeff Thomas, a tall, stout youngster some twenty-two years of age, whose manly form, lofty bearing, raven locks and black eye at once proclaimed him a man of both physical and moral strength who possessed a will and way of his own, from which he was not easily driven or persuaded.

At that day, the large boys generally stayed at home working on the farm until they attained their majority, attended the winter term of school, wore cowhide boots, coarse frocks and pants spun and woven by their mothers and sisters, and usually colored indigo blue.

The superintending school committee, as a rule, paid little attention to school matters, further than to ask a few simple questions of each candidate and issue the required certificate, just to satisfy the requirements of the statutes.

The school rooms were entirely destitute of furniture or apparatus of any kind except the rough seats and benches, which were unpainted and in many cases unplaned. Even blackboards, when first introduced, were strongly objected to as giving the house a most unpleasant aspect, as though draped in mourning.

No normal schools for the training and fitting of teachers were in existence, the necessary training then being a course of lessons from Tom Hyer, or some other noted pugilist.

But to this rule our hero was an honorable exception. Punishment he seldom resorted to, and never except in extreme cases, and then he always found some better method than was the ferule or withe.

For several years Jeff continued to teach throughout the most populous and wealthy towns, his labors being attended with unbounded success and commanding the highest pay.

One winter he was engaged to teach in one of the most populous districts in one of the leading towns, where many youngsters just coming into their majority were anxious to make all possible advancement.

During the first week, the school was visited by the chairman of the superintending school committee, a well-to-do farmer, who, though a man of intelligence rather above the average, had never before served either as committee man or teacher. The official received a most cordial greeting, was given a seat at the desk and told to make himself at home.

"I wish," said the official, "in the first place to hear the several classes read and your manner of conducting that exercise."

"Very well," replied Jeff. "The first class arise."

The text book on this occasion was the American First Class Book, compiled by Rev. John Pierpoint, which at that time was a universal favorite throughout the New England States. One of the most difficult exercises was selected, being Ossian's Address to the Sun, (which we dare say may be well remembered by many of our elderly readers).

The exercise hardly commenced, being opened by the teacher with explanations as to modulation, inflections, etc., when he was interrupted by the official. "Tut, tut," said he, "I most decidedly object to your style of reading. You put in so much highfalutin one would almost think you were reading poetry."

"As I am, indeed!" replied Jeff.

"Do I understand you to say that you call this poetry?"

"Indeed, I do," replied Jeff.

"And if so," replied the other, "where's the rhyme and measure, or what other proof of your assertion can you bring?"

"In the first place," replied Jeff, "I will cite you to the index furnished by the compiler, Rev. John Pierpont, a gentleman of both talent and culture and supposed to be good authority, who as you perceive places this lesson among his selections in poetry, furthermore, poetry does not always consist of rhyming, neither can rhyming always be denominated poetry."

The official, seeing himself floored by one looked upon as a subordinate, lost his temper.

"Well, sir," he blurted out, "I shan't give you a certificate or allow you to teach this term unless you comply with my requirements, and that to the very letter, as you must be aware that we, of the board, possess a power in these matters, backed by the strong arm of law. I command that these large scholars go no further with their studies until they receive a thorough training in the rudiment of the English language, which we consider of the most vital importance and of which I pronounce them to be grossly ignorant."

The teacher protested against such absurd orders. "Get out of this then," said the committee man, "I shall not give you a certificate and of course you can draw no pay."

"I shall keep this school," replied Jeff, "and draw my pay in full. So if you have finished your mission you are at liberty to depart, as our time is precious and I wish it to be more profitably employed."

His High-and-Mightiness departed in a towering passion and the school resumed its composure.

The news of the encounter flew through the district and a meeting was held, the ensuing evening, at which the people unanimously agreed to stand by the teacher.

Meantime the chairman hastened to inform the other members of the board as to the state of affairs, and it was agreed that the entire board should visit the school, as they were not going to be brow-beaten by that fellow while they had the law entirely on their side.

The next morning dawned bitter cold. The member of the "Fire List," whose turn came that morning to act as janitor, was behind hand so that at the hour of nine the schoolroom was far from comfortable. The green logs placed in the capacious stone chimney were still sweating and sizzling as if half a mind to die out altogether. The small high windows were covered with a thick coating of frost, which cast a deepening gloom over the long dark benches.

The pupils were hovering about the fireplace with their wraps drawn tightly about them, each intent on his morning's lessons, when raising his head from the pile of copy books on his desk, the sharp eye of the teacher caught a glimpse of the three would be dictators plodding through the deep snowdrifts in the direction of the schoolhouse.

At once divining their errand, he gave a few hasty orders, at which each pupil retired to his respective seat.

The trio without ceremony entered the schoolroom and after greeting the teacher with a stiff inclination of the head, seated themselves before the open fire. For several minutes no word was spoken. The visitors extended their benumbed and half frozen hands toward the small blue-tinted blaze, while each pupil sat shivering in his seat, apparently intent on his lesson, but casting sly glances first toward each other and then in the direction of their unwelcome guests.

The teacher rose to his full height, lifted his hand and addressed his school as follows: "Pupils, the morning exercise is now in order. Let each part be performed with vigor and dispatch, paying heed to the word of command, so that when it is ended we may be prepared to resume our studies."

They rose in their seats, and at the signal from the master made a general rush for the floor, stamping with their heavy cowhide boots, threshing their arms and whirling about, after the manner of eastern dervishes performing the rites of sun worship. Next, eight boys formed by twos, another struck up a hornpipe, to the sound of which the lads performed a shuffle with far more vehemence than grace. While this was going on, the girls were engaged in various exercises, such as clasping hands, taking a whirl about, playing at "Tit, tat, too," etc., until their cheeks were rosy. The teacher meanwhile acted as prompter, it all winding up with a game of leap frog by the boys, in which the visitors were not forgotten, as each lad at a given signal placed his hands upon their shoulders and lightly vaulted over their heads in turn.

The committee men, in utter amazement, inquired the meaning of such conduct.

"Merely the warming exercise," calmly replied our Jeff. "Nothing more. And observe its salutary effect. The school will now retire and resume their studies."

The committee made haste to retire, leaving both teacher and school to their fate, declaring that if the pedagogue persisted in staying there, he could do so at his own expense as he could draw no pay without their sanction, which it would surely never receive.

Of course no effort was made by Jeff Thomas for the recovery of his pay and when badgered by his associates as to the matter he merely replied that he was not at all anxious, and he who enjoyed the confidence and good will of an intelligent and generous public was sure to win.

At the next annual town meeting by the efforts of both parents and scholars, residents of this district, a new committee was chosen and a man selected for agent, noted for shrewdness and tact. Jeff was engaged for the next winter's term and there being no statute bearing on the amount of wages to be allowed, he was engaged at double his former price.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Thrice-a-Week Edition.

Read Wherever the English Language Is Spoken.

The Thrice-a-Week World, now that a great Presidential campaign is foreshadowed, hopes to be a better paper than it has ever been before, and it has made its aragenments accordingly. Its news service covers the entire globe, and it reports everything fully, promptly and accurately. It is the only paper, not a daily which is as good as a daily and which will keep you as completely informed of what is happening throughout the world.

The Thrice-a-Week World is fair in its political reports. You can get the truth from its colums, whether you are Republican or Democrat, and that is what you want.

A special feature of the Thrice-a-Week World has always been its serial fiction. It publishes novels by the best authors in the world, novels which in book form sell for $1.50 apiece, and its high standard in this respect will be maintained in the future as in the past.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription is only $1.00 per year and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and Norway ADVERTISER together for one year for $2.20. Address, F. W. Sanborn, Norway, Me. 39tf

Supreme Judical Court.

The October term of the Supreme Judicial Court will open at the Court House, South Paris, on Tuesday of next week. Chief Justice Andrew P. Wiswall will preside. He has not held the court in this county but once since he was appointed chief justice and that was in February, 1900. The term then lasted only six days. The March term was 17 days and the indications point to a longer term this fall than that.

There are a number of important matters to be disposed of, among which, is the Thompson-Cummings case which is of great interest to Norway people.

There are 250 actions on the continued civil docket, 15 equity cases and 71 continued criminal actions. There will undoubtedly be a large amount of business before the grand jury. The criminal case which will be of most interest is State against Henry L. Farrington, concerned in the Hartford shooting affair last spring.

On Wednesday evening next the Court Temperance meeting will be held at 7.30 o'clock. Judge A. E. Herrick will preside. The program includes a number of the best speakers in the county, and there will be singing by the Schubert Quartet of South Paris.

The grand and traverse jurors that have been returned to the clerk's office so far are as follows:

Grand Jurors.

Elias B. Abbott, Rumford.
Charles H. Bonney, Sumner.

Referee Cases.

Case number 63 in the continned docket for the October term of the Supreme Judicial court was J. L. Partridge vs. Wilmot W. McGowns. This case was referred to Hon. A. E. Herrick and was heard at the court house, Wednesday. This suit was brought to recover a little over eighty dollars for grain and other things bought from the store of Partridge Bros. at Norway Lake.

In the spring of 1902 the defendant owned a small farm in Waterford on which Solomon I. Millett had a mortgage. McGowns sold to plaintiff some standing maple timber to square the account. From the testimony it appeared that no time was set for it to be cut and taken away. The snow left in a hurry and they were unable to get it cut and hauled away. The matter ran along some little time when the defendant having moved to Berlin, was called on by the plaintiff's attorney to either settle the bill or give a writing allowing them to have a certain time to take off the timber. This was not done and the suit was brought to recover the bill. The defense is that the original account was settled and that to recover he should bring an action on the contract and not on the old account.

E. F. Smith was for plaintiff and W. L. Gray for defendant. The referee report will be filed at the October term of court.

Case 162 in the court docket is James L. Bumpus vs. George H. Bean, both of Hebron. This case was heard before Hon. A. S. Kimball at the court house, Monday. This was an action on an account originally brought in the Norway Municipal court, where judgment was rendered for the plaintiff and the defendant appealed to the Supreme Judicial court.

Alton C. Wheeler of the firm of Wright & Wheeler appeared for the plaintiff and Hon. Jesse M. Libby for the defendant. The referee's report will also be filed at this term of court.

New Electric Road.

Articles of association have been filed for the new electric railroad that will have its terminal at the Atlantic shore line railway at Springvale running through Sanford, Shapleigh, Acton, Newfield, Limerick, Parsonsfield and Cornish in York county, Porter and Hiram in Oxford, Baldwin to Bridgton Junction in Cumberland. The road will be four miles long and will have a gage of four feet, eight and a half inches. The capital stock is $160,000 and. is divided into 160 shares of $100 each.

Fryeburg Fair.

The fifty-sixth annual of the West Oxford Agricultural Society opened Tuesday, with excellent weather.

The exhibit of cattle is one of the largest and best in the history of the society. Nearly every one of the 100 pens is occupied by handsome grade stock. E. L. Pike of Waterford shows a fine herd of holsteins. H. F. Lord of Denmark exhibits fine hrefords.

Other exhibitors are E. Pingree, Denmark; Fred Colby, Denmark; F. E. Fessenden, Denmark; 20 head of full blooded shorthorns; Clarence Walker, Brownfield; George Miller, East Brownfield; Will Wentworth, East Brownfield; Edward Philbrook, East Brownfield; Philip C. Dennett, Brownfield; James H. Hodge, Jackson. W. B. Deacey, of Denmark, shows four pairs of durham working oxen and the same number of herefords.

The display of swine is not large. It includes a white chester sow and litter of four pigs, owned by E L. Pike of South Waterford, and a white chester boar, five months old, the property of Clarence Osgood of Fryeburg.

Among the exhibitors of sheep are Frank Barker of Fryeburg Center, shropshires, and George Walker of Fryeburg, flock of grade shropshire sheep and lambs.

There is the usual fine display of fruit and vegetables, fancy work, art and household articles on the two floors of the exhibition hall.

The merry-go-round and Ferris wheel are in the midway, the eating and drinking (soft) booths and other fair attractions.

The track was in prime condition. The judges were E. A. Fox of Lovell, A. V. Dow of Hiram, R. G. Knight of Cornish. The last named acted as starter and a right satisfactory one he made too. The timers were H. P. Jamison of Cornish, H. G. Freeman of Fryeburg and J. Davison of Conway, N. H.

The pulling match was one of the most interesting features of the day and was witnessed by many spectators. The drag was weighted with 5080 pounds of stone—a larger load than usual at these matches. The judges were Benjamin D. Knight of Sweden and John Hodgdon of Brownfield.

The first oxen hitched to to the drag was a pair girthing 7 feet, 1 inch, owned by Charles Bean of Hiram. They moved the load in the three minutes allowed, 7 feet, 2 inches; a pair of sparked cattle owned by Simeon Eaton of Brownfield then tackled the drag. They moved it 11 feet, 10 inches. Ernest Pice of Waterford put on a pair of oxen girthing 7 feet and 1 inch, and moved the load 11 feet and 5 inches. A pair of 7 feet, 2 inch cattle owned by W. Daisy of Denmark, pulled the drag 9 feet.

At this point Eben N. Perry, agent of the State society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, interfered and told the judges that if the weight on the drag was not lightened he should order the pulling to cease, and if they went ahead and pulled he would have the men who did so indicted by the grand jury of Oxford county. There was a good deal of talk and considerable delay, but finally the load was lightened to 4470 pounds and the pulling resumed.

D. Daisy of Denmark put on another pair of cattle girthing 7 feet and 1 inch, and moved the drag 14 feet and 3 inches. J. W. Perkins of Brownfield owned the next pair, girthing 7 feet and 1 inch, to be hitched to the drag. They pulled it 15 feet and 7 inches. A yoke girthing 7 feet and 1 inch, the property of Ernest Pike of Waterford, moved the load 18 feet and 3 inches.

The drag was again lightened of its load, leaving upon it 3040 pounds of stone. In this class were oxen 6 feet, 10 inches and under. Augustus Ingalls' pair of Denmark, 6 feet, 9½ inches, pulled the load 26 feet and 7 inches. Stillman Durgin's of Brownfield girthing 6 feet, 8½ inches moved the drag 92 feet and 1 inch. W. Daisy put on a pair of 6 feet 9 inch cattle and pulled the load 101 feet and 4 inches. Wesley Perkins put on a pair girthing 6 feet, 9½ inches, and moved the load 97 feet and 4 inches. The real distance was considerably more than this, but the judges cut it down as a part of the distance was over grass ground, not through the dry sand. A pair of 6 feet and 9 inch cattle owned by M. A. Seavey of Brownfield moved the load 108 feet and 7 inches. These oxen seemed to enjoy walking away with the drag for they were anxious to pull after the time limit was up.

In the class under 6 feet and 6 inches, the cattle girthing 6 feet, 5½ inches, owned by G. B. Potter of Denmark moved the drag 108 feet and 4 inches. The load now weighed 2040 pounds. C. B. Hartford of Hiram with his 6 feet 5½ inch cattle pulled the load 51 feet and 11 inches. The 6 feet 6 inch oxen owned by Albert E. Bean of Brownfield moved the load 186 feet, winning first money.

It was estimated there were 12,000 people on the grounds Wednesday.

The game of foot ball between South Portland and Fryeburg Academy teams was won by the latter by a score of 10 to 0.

In the afternoon the balloon ascension formed a marked attraction for many of the spectators. It was a successful exhibition, the aeronaut using the double parachute, unfastening the second while high in the air, and hanging from the bar head downward. He descended in a growth of small pine trees just outside the grounds.

HIRAM.

Mrs. Calvin Clemons.

Mrs. Calvin Clemons passed from this life, Thursday evening, the 27th, after a brief illness of a few days, aged 56 years. She was the daughter of Caleb and Hannah Clemons, both of whom are deceased. She married Calvin Clemons a number of years ago and spent a happy life on a large farm on what is known as the Hubbard Hill, East Hiram. She leaves a husband, two sisters and four brothers, and a large circle of friends to mourn their loss. The services were held at the house, Rev. H. H. Hoyt officiating. Interment was at the village cemetery.

Frank Watson's horse was frightened by the cars, breaking his wagon.

Harry Butterfield came very near losing his horse with colic at the Rochester fair.

A. F. Berry will be postman this week as the regular carrier will take part of his vacation.

Sept. 26th, Pomona Grangers met at North Baldwin. Many went from this place and reported a good meeting.

As Orman Spring was returning from Brownfield his horse went through a culvert, throwing him down and breaking the thills.

The drouth is causing a great deal of suffering for water as a great many fountains have gone dry. The Saco river never was so low in our remembrance.

Mr. Roberson, the post-office inspector, was at our office, Friday. Speaking of the encounter he had with robbers at West Baldwin he said, "I know who they are and will have them yet." He is quite lame from the effects of the bullet which passed through his leg.

GILEAD.

Mrs. Josie Wheeler is very sick.

Edith Farwell went to Gorham last Saturday.

The Estabrook party came down Sunday. Their auto being out of repair a man from Boston came on to repair it.

E. S. Bennett went with Lloyd Salt to Concord, the 24th, where he enters school.

The lumber business is now the topic of the day. Men and horses are going up the river and over to the Kennebago region nearly every day.

EAST WOODSTOCK.

Automobie Accident.

While George Davis and J. H. Pratt were endeavoring to drive Rosco Tuell's cattle into his pasture from which they had just broken out near Trap Corner, Ed. Andrews and party from Bryant's Pond, in his automobile came upon them suddenly at a rapid pace, and running into the herd broke one of the creature's legs. As this was one of a fancy matched pair of steers it was quite a loss.

Mr. Davis dressed off the steer for Mr. Tuell and Mr. Andrews agreed to make good all losses sustained through the accident. "Automobiles go slow" should be better heeded by the drivers of the same.

Effie Smith is sick and threatened with a fever.

Frank Whitman purchased a nice holestein calf of George Davis.

Mrs. Bert Fuller is recovering from her recent illness and the baby is out of danger.

Mrs. Fred Verrill who has been sick for a long time with billious fever is slowly gaining.

D. H. Curtis has been delivering pears to his old customers and we find them up to the standard, also those purchased of Chas. Curtis.

"A merciful man is merciful to his beast" should be the motto printed on a conspicuous sign and placed where all may read as they climb the long hill near Andrews' mills.

Gerald Davis sold his cosset lamb to the butcher last week, and the three dollars received will partially compensate him for his faithful care of the lamb which was an orphan.

The household goods and furnishings of John Reeves were forwarded to them recently from Mrs. Reeves' parental home, as Mrs. Reeves has concluded to remain near her husband who is stationed at Charlestown in the United States Navy. Mrs. Reeves will be much missed by her friends here.

BRYANT'S POND.

Killed in a Railroad Wreck.

A letter from El. Paso, Texas, brings the sad news that conductor O. H. Bacon was killed in a railroad wreck near Chihuahua, Mexico, on the 26th. He was born in Greenwood and was the eldest son of Alanson Bacon, who lived for several years at West Paris before he went West to join his children. Conductor Bacon went to Ohio when quite a young man and soon worked himself into a good position. For the past ten years or more he has made his home at El Paso, Texas, and been conductor on a Mexican railroad. In his thirty or more years of life "on the rail," he has never met with a serious accident until the one which cost him his life. He leaves a wife and two daughters, one of whom is married and lives in Ohio. The other is a teacher in El Paso.

SWEDEN.

"Home, Sweet Home."

Chauncey Poor of Omaha, Neb., arrived in town a short time ago to visit his sister, Mrs. Rachel Knight. He found her visiting some relatives about one mile from her home. Her brother said to her, "How long do you intend to stay away from home?"

Her answer was "Chauncey, I hardly know. You see I am almost 80 years old and you see it is hard for me to stay all alone, and I have not means to hire any one to stay with me."

Her brother said to her, "Would you like to have me go to your home with you and take care of you until one of us passes over the river?"

Her answer came quickly, "Yes."

So her brother, who is an expert violinist, took his viol with him and went down to open her house, and told his sister to have her nephew bring her down in a few hours. When Chauncey saw his sister coming he took his violin and stood beside a motto that hung on the wall and read, we think, "God bless our home." When his sister stepped into the front hall Chauncey was playing "Home, Sweet Home." His sister burst into tears she was so overjoyed to get back to her home with a kind-hearted brother to attend to her every want.

Mrs. Joseph Lary's black coon cat, Bargo, has run away from Round Pond and his mistress would like to know of his whereabouts. He haa been gone several weeks. Bargo has a peculiar appetite for a cat. He likes vegetables, and he likes them raw. He will eat uncooked potatoes, squashes, cucumbers, turnips, etc. While he will eat cooked food he prefers the raw material.

The Marshall Sisters at the Congregational church, Friday evening, gave a fine musical entertainment. The mother was the piano accompanist and the two daughters played on various musical instruments, sang, recited and gave impersonations. The song by the Japanese girl in costume and the impersonation of the Naughty Little Girl were favorites; also the trio on lyre, cello and piano. The jolly music on Swiss and sleigh bells always has a charm, particularly when well rendered. The duet by the Sisters on the xylophone was good.

Hundreds of Knights of Pythias Gather at Rumford Falls.

Three hundred delegates from every section of the State attended the field day held at Rumford Falls, Sept. 27th, by the First Regiment Union Rank Knights of Pythias. They were met at the train by Pettengill Commandery, U. R., K. of P., and the Rumford Falls band, and escorted to the lodge room of Metallus lodge, where an informal reception was given them. Dinners were served at the vestries of the Methodist, Baptist and Universalist churches and at 12.30 the line was formed for the march to the Gilson Flats where an elaborate program was carried out, including 100 yards dash, ball game between Pettengill Co. and picked team, fat men's race, 40 yards dash, potato race, hop, skip and jump, tug of war, and exhibition drills. A parade was made at 4 o'clock of the principal streets. In the evening in Elks theatre was held a grand concert and military ball, which was very largely attended. Music was by the local band. The ladies were gowned very beautifully.

Burned to Death.

Rubert M. Hight, aged 24, who lived at Songo, was burned to death at his home, Thursday. Mr. Hight arose at 6 o'clock in the morning and kindled a fire, after which he poured kerosene on the flames.

There was a loud explosion, the young man's clothing caught fire and frantic with pain and calling loudly for help he ran from the house. Hight was in such terrible agony that he ran around the house several times before the others could get a chance to extinguish the flames. When the physicians arrived they saw that the injured man was beyond help, but did everything possible to alleviate his sufiering. He lived until 1.30 in the afternoon, and remained conscious until the end came.

Hight was so terribly burned that pieces of flesh dropped from his body, and he was continually beseeching the physicians to relieve his agony. He was the son of John Hight and leaves a wife and one child.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon, Rev. Samuel Mains officiating.

Mrs. Joseph H. Clark.

The death of this estimable lady occurred at her home on Pleasant avenue, Woodfords, Tuesday evening, Sept. 25. Mrs. Clark had not been strong during the summer, but it was only on the Saturday preceding her death that she was considered dangerously sick. The end came peacefully, though the suffering had been very severe.

E. Ellen Mixer was born in Oxford, Feb. 10, 1836. She was married to Deacon Joseph H. Clark in Norway in November, 1866. She went to Woodfords where she has since resided. She, with her husband, became members of the Woodfords Congregational church at its organization in 1872. She came by letter from the Norway church. She has been closely identified with all of its life and she loved it. Her principles and convictions were strong and deep; she had sound judgement and great efficiency.

For many years the Ladies' circle connected with this church has felt that she was a pillar—always ready to work and do her part and the newcomer looked to her for wise counsel and guidance. She was on the work committee of the circle for 24 years. But perhaps her deepest love was manifested for the Ladies' Missionary society which, from its organization, over 18 years ago, she has served faithfully. For many years she had been the treasurer of the Woman's Aid to the American Missionary association, and was prompt and successful in that capacity.

Of the family, Joeeph H. Clark, Jr., and Mrs. Fred Morrill are left and the church and community share the sorrow of the home in their great loss.

Something About Captain Billy Soule.

The Mighty Hunter of Cupsuptic Lake.

Way up in the northern Maine woods lives Captain Billy Soule, known far and wide as the genial and always popular camp owner of the Cupsuptic region and his fame has traveled throughout New England wherever sportsmen assemble, for all know and admire his originality.

"I don't know whether my name is William or not," says Mr. Soule. "I'm pretty certain Billy is the name I was christened under."

And Billy it must be, for Pleasant Island and all its business is done under that familiar name that his friends have given him. Recently he received a beautiful present from Colonel Billings in the form of a hunting knife that bears this inscription: "Designed by C. E. Billings of Hartford, Conn., for Captain Billy Soule, the mighty hunter of Cupsuptic Lake, Maine."

Billy Soule was born in Rangeley and for 28 years guided in this region. Cupsuptic stream was his favorite hunting and trapping ground and he built the first camp ever put up here over thirty years ago. Previous to coming to Pleasant Island in 1884 he guided many famous New England parties.

The captain has never posed as a hunter, although he has taken many of the wood's monarchs whose skins and heads decorate his camps. Deer there are in plenty in this region to be seen any morning if one will but take a short walk through the woods in their favorite feeding places. Then too the captain has caught fish. In fact he is an out and out lover of the woods. His largest trout tipped the scales at 10¼ pounds.

He guided in the Parmacheene region many years before the club was organized there.

But Billy can't claim all the honors of hunting and fishing, for Mrs. Soule is an experieneed huntswoman, having already shot half a dozen deer. Coming home from a recent fishing trip Mrs. Soule took a short cut down the tote road when she was surprised by a big bear directly beside the road. Not having a rifle she prudently waited, the bear walked out of the way, and then resumed her journey to the camp.

Mrs. Soule is an expert with the rifle, even securing partridges by very cleverly shooting their heads off. She goes fishing whenever the desire prompts itself, and invariably brings home a good string of trout.

Frequently she takes the lady guests at Pleasant Island to see the deer where they are feeding and drinking across the cove, half a mile from camp, and is familiar with all the habits of deer; knows how to find them in the woods and their varied characteristics and habits.—[Trade Journal.

OXFORD.

Mrs. Lizzie Lovering.

The death of Mrs. Lizzie Lovering, wife of Alphonso Lovering, occurred on Wednesday evening after a long illness with cancer. Mrs. Lovering was 45 years of age and had been confined to her room a great sufferer, since her case was declared beyond cure and she was brought back from the Central Maine General hospital at Lewiston six weeks ago, where she submitted to an operation which her family had hoped might save her life.

Mrs. Lovering was a member of the Pythian Sisterhood at Oxford and also of the Norway Grange, taking an active interest in both organizations as long as her health permitted.

She leaves besides her husband, two sons, Frank and Fred, the former of whom is at present employed at the Grand Trunk Ry. station in Norway. Her father and mother are both living in Hebron, as well as a sister and one brother, Charles. Two other brothers, Arthur and Will live respectively in Oxford and Boston. The funeral was held Sunday.

George Hazen is thinking of buying a runabout automobile.

Harry Kay is attending the Textile school at Lowell, Mass.

James Knight and family have moved back to their farm from Lewiston.

John B. Robinson and George Jones attended the Rochester, N. H., fair last week.

Charles Rowe, who has been working at corn packing at Minot, has returned home.

Fernald, Keene & True's factory put up 358,000 cans of corn this season at Oxford station.

Charles Sanborn's family of Otisfield has moved into the Benjamin Dudley house at Welchville.

The barber, C. H. Farnham, has been sick and Charles Weston is attending to the work in the barber shop.

The Oaks school is closed because the teacher. Olive Martin, has been sick with a serious throat trouble.

There are 30 scholars in the High school grade, ten of whom are in the senior class. In the other grades there are 70 pupils.

Work has begun on rebuilding the basket shop. The new building will be one story and a second building will be built for the storehouse.

Mrs. C. F. Pattee, who submitted to a surgical operation last January, does not recover as her friends wish. At the present time she is seriously ill.

Mrs. I. M. Keith of the Lake View hotel has been ill and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hatch have had charge of the house. Mrs. Keith is now able to get about the house.

John D. S. Farris and wife of Everett, Mass., have been the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Farris. Mrs. W. G. Andrews of Somersworth has also been a guest.

E. P. Faunce has returned from Minneapolis, Minn. He is recovering from his attack of blindness. He was stricken while at the G. A. R. Encampment. Mr. Faunce was accompanied home by his nephew, Charles S. Faunce of Minneapolis.

The death of Rudolph Schumacher, aged 20 years, of Jacksonville, Fla., occurred Sunday morning, Sept. 23, at the home of J. F. Fuller, where he has spent the greater part of his time for the past six years. His father, who was called here by his critical illness, accompanied the remains to Mohawk, N. Y., Monday morning for interment.

Horace Dinsmore and wife, Ed. Allen and wife of Norway, John McKeel and wife of Oxford and George W. Richardson and wife of Greenwood, are at their camp at Umbagog lake. They have a nice camp and it's in an excellent hunting and fishing section. John C. Shepherd and Dr. F. N. Barker are expected to go there the last of this week.

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her periods she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up: you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham;

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Summer Trials from Friends in the City.

"There goes my last guest of the summer," said Mrs. Brown, plumping down dejectedly on the lowest step of the front porch, after waving a last good-bye to a frivolous young woman, her baby, a huge Saratoga trunk and a go-cart. "I feel so imposed upon that I've got to talk till I get back my one-time sunny disposition. If you wish to keep yours, don't ever take a country place until you have ceased to be on speaking terms not only with your friends, but with your friends' friends, and your friends' friends' friends." She stopped with a gasp. "Yes, and then there's your relatives! Well, when it comes to them, you just have to be a martyr, that's all.

"I've at last come to the conclusion that families do not take a country place for their own benefit. If they are simple enough to think that they do in the beginning, their so-called friends speedily disabuse them of that idea. In reality they take it to run a free-for-all boarding house, which nets them no returns, and leaves them wrecked in body and purse and friendship at the end of the summer.

"That disgruntled young person disappearing around the bend in the road will illustrate nicely what I mean. She belongs to the friend, third-removed class, who contrived to get a general vague invitation from me to come out here to see me some time. She came, bag and baggage. Our man had to leave the field a half day during the haying season to go for her trunk, and father strained his back helping to tug it out of the wagon.

"Do you think she ever tried to help in any way during her stay here? Not she; she didn't even pretend to make her bed, though my one lone Bridget has just all she can do. I invariably had to tidy up her room, to say nothing of straightening up the porch after her little girl had had a mid-morning lunch and romp with her toys.

"Nothing was ever quite good enough for her either. She complained of the inconveniences of the house, and she was always talking about the lack of entertainment in the neighborhood. Of course, it is quiet here. That's why we like it. Nevertheless, we planned with much loss of our own comfort and best interests several excursions for her benefit. We were thanked for our pains by an incident somewhat like the one which occured yesterday at the picnic. She happened to sit next to a new arrival whom she did not know is a real friend of mine, when the lunch was being eaten, and she afterward told me that there wasn't a thing passed to my guest that she didn't turn up her nose at and make some degoratory remark.

"I think today was a good time for her to go home. She has been here a month now, long enough to have saved quite a sum in board bills. No doubt she will buy some new gowns with the money, and then to top it off will tell her husband a miserable tale about the way she was treated up here and fail to write even a bread and butter note.

"Naturally she will never dream of sending a lamp shade, the absence of which in her room she deplored, nor will she ever replace the wash bowl she broke.

"Yes, we have always been more or less pestered with company, but I never appreciated the real trial of the summer visitor until we came out here. When country people go to the city they feel meek and are easily brought to time if they transgress. City people visiting in the country run over everybody and everything rough shod with all the cocksuredness of a king who can do no wrong."

The Apple Crop.

The crop of apples in this State is showing up to better advantage as they increase in growth and approach maturity. The principal commercial varieties, with perhaps the exception of the Ben Davis, are remarkably large and even in growth, and at present are showing scarce any drops. If heavy winds are escaped they are sure to fill up a surprising number of barrels. While Baldwins have been accounted short, yet they are so large and perfect that the yeald of this variety is sure to be a surprise at the picking. A large quantity of the finest Baldwins ever grown in Maine will be ready for the market later on, and will command a good price.

The sensational estimates of the abundance of the apple crop of the country at large that were sent out by the apple sippers in the early part of the season have put on a far more conservative tone as the season has advanced, and the actual condition of the crop has become better known. At the recent meeting of the New York State Fruit Growers' Association, the general opinion was that the crop would be about the same as last year, instead of two and a half times as much, as was earlier claimed. The claimed bountiful crop of the Ozark region has been cut to 60 per cent. of a full crop, all of which, authorities claim, will be wanted in Texas.

Holders of this choice Maine fruit need be in no hurry to set a price on it; it will all be wanted in good time. It is quite time that the cry, "fruit is going to sell low this year," should stop. There is nothing in the situation to indicate such a thing.—[Maine Farmer.

URIC-O CURED HIM

Rheumatism Tortured and Crippled Mr. Theo. D. Hadley of Kennett Square, Pa.

Dear Friend:

You will remember of my writing you some time ago regarding Uric-O for rheumatism. I took your advice and purchased three bottles from my local druggist and began its use at once. Favorable effects were experienced and day by day I improved. I have used the three bottles and can truthfully state that I am a well man.

Uric-O has cured in me as bad a case of rheumatism as ever existed. My suffering for months was intense, some nights not able to get one moment's sleep, could not raise my right hand to my head—had to do all with my left. I could not even dress myself for over three months. My trouble being inflammatory rheumatism had settled in my right arm and shoulder crippling, as I thought, permanently. This is the third letter I have written, a thing I hardly expected to be able to do again, as I did not think I could possibly recover from the terrible effects of the disease, as you know I am past the four score year on the way to the New Jerusalem." I am happy to state that after suffering so long with the most painful forms of rheumatism, that Uric-O has cured me and nearly normal conditions exist. My former strength is improving, and yet for all I am 55 years old, sleep well again, eat well and as hale and hearty as a man at the age fifty. I thank you again most heartily for recommending Uric-O to me. I can now recommend it to my friends.

Theo. H. Hadley, Kennett Square, Pa.

This marvelous specific is sold at 75 cents a bottle, two weeks' treatment, a blood cure for all forms of rheumatism, acting alone on the blood, muscles and kidneys. Uric-O is a liquid taken in spoonfull doses three times daily and must be used for rheumatism only. Ask your druggist for samples and circulars explaining the treatment.

Noyes Drug Store is the Uric-O store in Norway.

The Marshall Sisters at the Congregational church, Friday evening, gave a fine musical entertainment. The mother was the piano accompanist and the two daughters played on various musical instruments, sang, recited and gave impersonations. The song by the Japanese girl in costume and the impersonation of the Naughty Little Girl were favorites; also the trio on lyre, cello and piano. The jolly music on Swiss and sleigh bells always has a charm, particularly when well rendered. The duet by the Sisters on the xylophone was good.

Uniform Rank.

Hundreds of Knights of Pythias Gather at Rumford Falls.

Three hundred delegates from every section of the State attended the field day held at Rumford Falls, Sept. 27th, by the First Regiment Union Rank Knights of Pythias. They were met at the train by Pettengill Commandery, U. R., K. of P., and the Rumford Falls band, and escorted to the lodge room of Metallus lodge, where an informal reception was given them. Dinners were served at the vestries of the Methodist, Baptist and Universalist churches and at 12.30 the line was formed for the march to the Gilson Flats where an elaborate program was carried out, including 100 yards dash, ball game between Pettengill Co. and picked team, fat men's race, 40 yards dash, potato race, hop, skip and jump, tug of war, and exhibition drills. A parade was made at 4 o'clock of the principal streets. In the evening in Elks theatre was held a grand concert and military ball, which was very largely attended. Music was by the local band. The ladies were gowned very beautifully.

Burned to Death.

Rubert M. Hight, aged 24, who lived at Songo, was burned to death at his home, Thursday. Mr. Hight arose at 6 o'clock in the morning and kindled a fire, after which he poured kerosene on the flames.

There was a loud explosion, the young man's clothing caught fire and frantic with pain and calling loudly for help he ran from the house. Hight was in such terrible agony that he ran around the house several times before the others could get a chance to extinguish the flames. When the physicians arrived they saw that the injured man was beyond help, but did everything possible to alleviate his sufiering. He lived until 1.30 in the afternoon, and remained conscious until the end came.

Hight was so terribly burned that pieces of flesh dropped from his body, and he was continually beseeching the physicians to relieve his agony. He was the son of John Hight and leaves a wife and one child.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon, Rev. Samuel Mains officiating.

Mrs. Joseph H. Clark.

The death of this estimable lady occurred at her home on Pleasant avenue, Woodfords, Tuesday evening, Sept. 25. Mrs. Clark had not been strong during the summer, but it was only on the Saturday preceding her death that she was considered dangerously sick. The end came peacefully, though the suffering had been very severe.

E. Ellen Mixer was born in Oxford, Feb. 10, 1836. She was married to Deacon Joseph H. Clark in Norway in November, 1866. She went to Woodfords where she has since resided. She, with her husband, became members of the Woodfords Congregational church at its organization in 1872. She came by letter from the Norway church. She has been closely identified with all of its life and she loved it. Her principles and convictions were strong and deep; she had sound judgement and great efficiency.

For many years the Ladies' circle connected with this church has felt that she was a pillar—always ready to work and do her part and the newcomer looked to her for wise counsel and guidance. She was on the work committee of the circle for 24 years. But perhaps her deepest love was manifested for the Ladies' Missionary society which, from its organization, over 18 years ago, she has served faithfully. For many years she had been the treasurer of the Woman's Aid to the American Missionary association, and was prompt and successful in that capacity.

Of the family, Joeeph H. Clark, Jr., and Mrs. Fred Morrill are left and the church and community share the sorrow of the home in their great loss.

Something About Captain Billy Soule.

The Mighty Hunter of Cupsuptic Lake.

Way up in the northern Maine woods lives Captain Billy Soule, known far and wide as the genial and always popular camp owner of the Cupsuptic region and his fame has traveled throughout New England wherever sportsmen assemble, for all know and admire his originality.

"I don't know whether my name is William or not," says Mr. Soule. "I'm pretty certain Billy is the name I was christened under."

And Billy it must be, for Pleasant Island and all its business is done under that familiar name that his friends have given him. Recently he received a beautiful present from Colonel Billings in the form of a hunting knife that bears this inscription: "Designed by C. E. Billings of Hartford, Conn., for Captain Billy Soule, the mighty hunter of Cupsuptic Lake, Maine."

Billy Soule was born in Rangeley and for 28 years guided in this region. Cupsuptic stream was his favorite hunting and trapping ground and he built the first camp ever put up here over thirty years ago. Previous to coming to Pleasant Island in 1884 he guided many famous New England parties.

The captain has never posed as a hunter, although he has taken many of the wood's monarchs whose skins and heads decorate his camps. Deer there are in plenty in this region to be seen any morning if one will but take a short walk through the woods in their favorite feeding places. Then too the captain has caught fish. In fact he is an out and out lover of the woods. His largest trout tipped the scales at 10¼ pounds.

He guided in the Parmacheene region many years before the club was organized there.

But Billy can't claim all the honors of hunting and fishing, for Mrs. Soule is an experieneed huntswoman, having already shot half a dozen deer. Coming home from a recent fishing trip Mrs. Soule took a short cut down the tote road when she was surprised by a big bear directly beside the road. Not having a rifle she prudently waited, the bear walked out of the way, and then resumed her journey to the camp.

Mrs. Soule is an expert with the rifle, even securing partridges by very cleverly shooting their heads off. She goes fishing whenever the desire prompts itself, and invariably brings home a good string of trout.

Frequently she takes the lady guests at Pleasant Island to see the deer where they are feeding and drinking across the cove, half a mile from camp, and is familiar with all the habits of deer; knows how to find them in the woods and their varied characteristics and habits.—[Trade Journal.

OXFORD.

Mrs. Lizzie Lovering.

The death of Mrs. Lizzie Lovering, wife of Alphonso Lovering, occurred on Wednesday evening after a long illness with cancer. Mrs. Lovering was 45 years of age and had been confined to her room a great sufferer, since her case was declared beyond cure and she was brought back from the Central Maine General hospital at Lewiston six weeks ago, where she submitted to an operation which her family had hoped might save her life.

Mrs. Lovering was a member of the Pythian Sisterhood at Oxford and also of the Norway Grange, taking an active interest in both organizations as long as her health permitted.

She leaves besides her husband, two sons, Frank and Fred, the former of whom is at present employed at the Grand Trunk Ry. station in Norway. Her father and mother are both living in Hebron, as well as a sister and one brother, Charles. Two other brothers, Arthur and Will live respectively in Oxford and Boston. The funeral was held Sunday.

George Hazen is thinking of buying a runabout automobile.

The ADVERTISER wants a correspondent at Oxford village.

Harry Kay is attending the Textile school at Lowell, Mass.

James Knight and family have moved back to their farm from Lewiston.

John B. Robinson and George Jones attended the Rochester, N. H., fair last week.

Charles Rowe, who has been working at corn packing at Minot, has returned home.

Fernald, Keene & True's factory put up 358,000 cans of corn this season at Oxford station.

Charles Sanborn's family of Otisfield has moved into the Benjamin Dudley house at Welchville.

The barber, C. H. Farnham, has been sick and Charles Weston is attending to the work in the barber shop.

The Oaks school is closed because the teacher, Olive Martin, has been sick with a serious throat trouble.

There are 30 scholars in the High school grade, ten of whom are in the senior class. In the other grades there are 70 pupils.

Work has begun on rebuilding the basket shop. The new building will be one story and a second building will be built for the storehouse.

Mrs. C. F. Pattee, who submitted to a surgical operation last January, does not recover as her friends wish. At the present time she is seriously ill.

Mrs. I. M. Keith of the Lake View hotel has been ill and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hatch have had charge of the house. Mrs. Keith is now able to get about the house.

John D. S. Farris and wife of Everett, Mass., have been the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Farris. Mrs. W. G. Andrews of Somersworth has also been a guest.

E. P. Faunce has returned from Minneapolis, Minn. He is recovering from his attack of blindness. He was stricken while at the G. A. R. Encampment. Mr. Faunce was accompanied home by his nephew, Charles S. Faunce of Minneapolis.

The death of Rudolph Schumacher, aged 20 years, of Jacksonville, Fla., occurred Sunday morning, Sept. 23, at the home of J. F. Fuller, where he has spent the greater part of his time for the past six years. His father, who was called here by his critical illness, accompanied the remains to Mohawk, N. Y., Monday morning for interment.

Horace Dinsmore and wife, Ed. Allen and wife of Norway, John McKeel and wife of Oxford and George W. Richardson and wife of Greenwood, are at their camp at Umbagog lake. They have a nice camp and it's in an excellent hunting and fishing section. John C. Shepherd and Dr. F. N. Barker are expected to go there the last of this week.

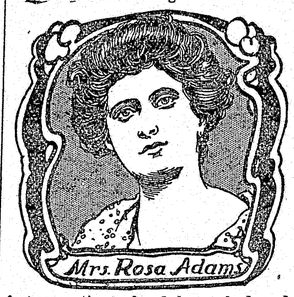
Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way:

She has been feeling "out of sorts"



for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her periods she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up: you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham;

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Summer Trials from Friends in the City.

"There goes my last guest of the summer," said Mrs. Brown, plumping down dejectedly on the lowest step of the front porch, after waving a last good-bye to a frivolous young woman, her baby, a huge Saratoga trunk and a go-cart. "I feel so imposed upon that I've got to talk till I get back my one-time sunny disposition. If you wish to keep yours, don't ever take a country place until you have ceased to be on speaking terms not only with your friends, bnt with your friends' friends, and your friends' friends' friends." She stopped with a gasp. "Yes, and then there's your relatives! Well, when it comes to them, you just have to be a martyr, that's all.

"I've at last come to the conclusion that families do not take a country place for their own benefit. If they are simple enough to think that they do in the beginning, their so-called friends speedily disabuse them of that idea. In reality they take it to run a free-for-all boarding house, which nets them no returns, and leaves them wrecked in body and purse and friendship at the end of the summer.

"That disgruntled young person disappearing around the bend in the road will illustrate nicely what I mean. She belongs to the friend, third-removed class, who contrived to get a general vague invitation from me to come out here to see me some time. She came, bag and baggage. Our man had to leave the field a half day during the haying season to go for her trunk, and father strained his back helping to tug it out of the wagon.

"Do you think she ever tried to help in any way during her stay here? Not she; she didn't even pretend to make her bed, though my one lone Bridget has just all she can do. I invariably had to tidy up her room, to say nothing of straightening up the porch after her little girl had had a mid-morning lunch and romp with her toys.

"Nothing was ever quite good enough for her either. She complained of the inconveniences of the house, and she was always talking about the lack of entertainment in the neighborhood. Of course, it is quiet here. That's why we like it. Nevertheless, we planned with much loss of our own comfort and best interests several excursions for her benefit. We were thanked for our pains by an incident somewhat like the one which occured yesterday at the picnic. She happened to sit next to a new arrival whom she did not know is a real friend of mine, when the lunch was being eaten, and she afterward told me that there wasn't a thing passed to my guest that she didn't turn up her nose at and make some degoratory remark.

"I think today was a good time for her to go home. She has been here a month now, long enough to have saved quite a sum in board bills. No doubt she will buy some new gowns with the money, and then to top it off will tell her husband a miserable tale about the way she was treated up here and fail to write even a bread and butter note.

"Naturally she will never dream of sending a lamp shade, the absence of which in her room she deplored, nor will she ever replace the wash bowl she broke.

"Yes, we have always been more or less pestered with company, but I never appreciated the real trial of the summer visitor until we came out here. When country people go to the city they feel meek and are easily brought to time if they transgress. City people visiting in the country run over everybody and everything rough shod with all the cocksuredness of a king who can do no wrong."

The Apple Crop.

The crop of apples in this State is showing up to better advantage as they increase in growth and approach maturity. The principal commercial varieties, with perhaps the exception of the Ben Davis, are remarkably large and even in growth, and at present are showing scarce any drops. If heavy winds are escaped they are sure to fill up a surprising number of barrels. While Baldwins have been accounted short, yet they are so large and perfect that the yeald of this variety is sure to be a surprise at the picking. A large quantity of the finest Baldwins ever grown in Maine will be ready for the market later on, and will command a good price.

The sensational estimates of the abundance of the apple crop of the country at large that were sent out by the apple sippers in the early part of the season have put on a far more conservative tone as the season has advanced, and the actual condition of the crop has become better known. At the recent meeting of the New York State Fruit Growers' Association, the general opinion was that the crop would be about the same as last year, instead of two and a half times as much, as was earlier claimed. The claimed bountiful crop of the Ozark region has been cut to 60 per cent. of a full crop, all of which, authorities claim, will be wanted in Texas.

Holders of this choice Maine fruit need be in no hurry to set a price on it; it will all be wanted in good time. It is quite time that the cry, "fruit is going to sell low this year," should stop. There is nothing in the situation to indicate such a thing.—[Maine Farmer.

URIC-O CURED HIM

Rheumatism Tortured and Crippled Mr. Theo. D. Hadley of Kennett Square, Pa.

Dear Friend:

You will remember of my writing you some time ago regarding Uric-O for rheumatism. I took your advice and purchased three bottles from my local druggist and began its use at once. Favorable effects were experienced and day by day I improved. I have used the three bottles and can truthfully state that I am a well man.

Uric-O has cured in me as bad a case of rheumatism as ever existed. My suffering for months was intense, some nights not able to get one moment's sleep, could not raise my right hand to my head—had to do all with my left. I could not even dress myself for over three months. My trouble being inflammatory rheumatism had settled in my right arm and shoulder crippling, as I thought, permanently. This is the third letter I have written, a thing I hardly expected to be able to do again, as I did not think I could possibly recover from the terrible effects of the disease, as you know I am past the four score year on the way to eh'ver Jerusalem." I am happy to state that after suffering so long with the most painful forms of rheumatism, that Uric-O has cured me and nearly normal conditions exist. My former strength is improving, and yet for all I am 85 years old, sleep well again, eat well and as hale and hearty as a man at the age fifty. I thank you again most heartily for recommending Uric-O to me. I can now recommend it to my friends.

Theo. H. Hadley, Kennett Square, Pa.

This marvelous specific is sold at 75 cents a bottle, two weeks' treatment, a blood cure for all forms of rhematism, acting alone on the blood, muscles and kidneys. Uric-O is a liquid taken in spoonfull doses three times daily and must be used for rheumatism only. Ask your druggist for samples and circulars explaining the treatment.

Noyes Drug Store is the Uric-O store in Norway.

RUMFORD FALLS.

The survey of the trolley line to Bethel will be made this fall and the line built in the spring.

Rev. G. B. Hannaford has followed the Christian faith for 50 years. The Methodist church was well filled Sunday evening to commemorate this event.

Fred Carter of Bethel passed through Rumford Falls with a crew of about 15 men on their way for Bemis, where they will begin their lumbering operations.

The Applachian club of Boston passed through this town on their way to "The Birches" where they will spend the remainder of the month. There are about 150 in the party and they generally visit the lakes or White mountains each year. In the mountains they have trails and camps where they visit during their travels. The well known "Hut" on Mt. Madison is owned by this club.

Hebron Academy.

Hon. John D. Long Elected Member of Board of Trustees.

A special meeting of the board of trustees of Hebron academy was held at the academy, Wednesday, Sept. 26th.

Of the trustees present there were: Hon. George D. Bisbee, vice-president, of Rumford Falls, Hon. Fred E. Richards of Portland, Dr. J. W. Beede of Auburn, George W. Hanson of Sanford, Rev. A. R. Crane, Prof. William E. Sargent, E. S. Dunham, H. K. Stearns, Hebron.

Prof. Sargent, the principal, submitted a written report on the needs of the institution, especially referring to the present impossibility of obtaining rooms for boys; and among other things recommending the immediate building of a boy's cottage or dormitory that would accommodate from 40 to 50 students. Instead of a large dormitory similar to the Sturtevant home, Prof. Sargent recommends a series of cottages. There are now some 215 students at the academy and the boys are not only crowded, but are scattered all over town; many of them not well located.

A committee was chosen and instructed at once to procure a plan and estimate of a dormitory or cottage suitable to the present needs of the institution, and to report at a meeting of the trustees to be held in the month of December. A committee was also chosen to prepare suitable resolutions on the occasion of the death of Judge Percival Bonney, the president of the institution, recently deceased. Judge Bonney was a graduate of the institution and had been its president for over 20 years. He had made the wants of the institution his life work. The vacancy on the board of trustees, caused by his death, was filled by the unanimous election of Hon. John D. Long as trustee. Ex-Governor Long was a graduate from Hebron academy and has always taken a great interest in the institution. While his residence is in the state of Massachusetts, he owns a farm in the town of Buckfield and spends his summers in that town and thus will be able to keep in close touch with old Hebron.

Autumn Fabrics.

Fashion Notes.

An extensive and attactive variety of new materials and fresh colorings are shown in the autumn dress fabrics, the fancy weaves are making way for the plain goods for tailored suits. Shelma cloth is a new all worsted fabric of somewhat lighter weight than broadcloth but a strong weave of a line of stylish new colorings and also in plain black. It is over 50 inches wide and of a non-wrinkling quality which is eminently satisfactory as all the daughters of Eve can testify. English suitings are holding a prominent place in desirability for tailored suits and are in varied grades and colorings.

Lansdowne is a soft silk and wool fabric, with a lustrous sheen, exceptionally rich and attractive. Beauty, style and daintiness characterize this lovely weave with its exquisitely beautiful silken finish, and in an innumerable line of colorings, it lends itself most effectively to the prevailing modes, which are never more beautiful than when envolved from this lovely fabric.

Parkhill ginghams show an attractive variety of artistic designs and color harmonies, and are of soft, fine texture; with a distinct style, beauty and tone all their own, they hold a place of unrivalled prominence.

Modish coats and wraps are in demand and broadcloth and silk are suitable for day or evening wear. Orkeda silk is known as the silk that lasts and is admirably suited, with its softness, pliability and delicate lustre and finish, to the present styles and is especially desirable for handsome costumes and waists, also for fancy work, draperies, drop skirts and lining. Seds silk has a handsome ribbed or grained effect like the old favorite "Faille," which is doubtless well remembered, a thread of cotton gives it strength, and its softness and lustrous finish combine to give it a place in our confidence.

In the list of fashionable colors this season we note brown, deep blue, bronze green, dark rich wine and prune, while plain black is still a favorite in gowns, suits and millinery. Plaids, checks and stripes are noticed in waistings and suitings. Hopewell cloths have distinct claim as desirable and attractive weaves for the traveling and street suit, with a combination of many excellent qualities, being of variedly desirable grades, durable quality and handsome finish and developing costumes eminently satisfactory and attractive.

Krinkledown is a new candidate for public favor, of fluffy daintiness and beauty, somewhat similar to eiderdown but regarded as of superior merit, it is especially desirable for childrens' garments, cloaks, blankets, robes, kimonas, dressing sacks, etc. Krinkledown comes in solid colors, pink, blue, red, gray and white and is 26 inches wide.

"So-Lite" is the name of a new little pocket rubber which is marvel of ease, utility and common sense, and is as "light on the foot as a glove on the hand." These rubbers are easily carried in the bag or pocket and are convenient when traveling, calling or shopping.

COUSIN ALICE.

Fell from Church Roof.

Charles G. Hill of Bryant's Pond received painful and serious injuries Friday by falling from the roof of the Baptist church.

Mr. Hill, Archie Felt, Edwin H. Cole and Arthur Bessey were engaged in shingling the church roof, working from a scaffold, when at about 9.35 a. m. one of the supporting brackets slipped, letting the planks tilt sharply. Mr. Felt clung to the shingle moulding and saved himself from falling. Mr. Cole seized a ladder and likewise escaped injury. The other two men, however, were less fortunate, and were precipitated to the ground, a distance of 20 feet. Mr. Bessey's fall was broken in some manner, so that although several planks fell on him he received no hurt besides a few bruises. As for Mr. Hill, he was less fortunate. On his way down he hit and carried away a board which was nailed across the scaffolding, and after he had struck the ground a heavy plank fell on him. When picked up he was found to have received painful injuries across the small of the back. It was the doctor's opinion that Mr. Hill narrowly escaped a broken back. Whether or not internal injuries will develop cannot be ascertained till later. Mr. Hill is one of our most respected and prominent citizens.

In the Bowdoin entering class are:

Elmer H. Hobbs, Fryeburg.
George H. Buck, Harrison.
Guy W. Farrar, South Paris.
William E. Atwood, Paris.
R. Edgar Fisher, Kidlonville.
Randall S. Taylor, Jr., Fryeburg.

Roadmaster Stewart.

A few years ago one of the best known men along this part of the Grand Trunk Railway was Roadmaster D. G. Stewart of Gorham, N. H., who resigned his position a few years since.

Mr. Stewart is a Scotchman who came to this country almost 40 years ago, and immediately began work for the Grand Trunk, on which he continued until his retirement a few years ago. When he was a boy he ran away from home and drifted into a railroad construction work, and after several years of this emigrated to Canada. He began his railroad work here by fireing on a Grand Trunk locomotive, but soon left that for construction and repair work. He began this sort of work in Ontario, then was ordered out to Michigan, while he ended up his railroad career on the Portland division.

In his capacity as roadmaster on several divisions on the Grand Trunk, Mr. Stewart has encountered several severe snow blockades, and he can tell some interesting stories about them. The worst storm he ever knew was about 25 years ago when he was stationed in Ontario. He had a crew out after the storm cleared away and in a little time struck a drift 30 feet deep and 300 feet long. It would have taken two days and two nights to shovel it out and it looked like a serious job, but a bright thought struck the roadmaster and he ordered the engines to back up a mile or so, and returning put on all steam and strike that rebelious drift full tilt. The plan worked, and after several attacks the road was cleared in 45 minutes. Mr. Stewart was censured for recklessness.

About 18 years ago, there was a bad block on this end of the line and Mr. Stewart had had a crew out working steadily for 18 or 20 hours. As they approached Bethel they struck a big drift. The men tackled it, but it seemed to blow in a little faster than it could be shoveled out; so the men were ordered to bed for a little rest. In the mean time, the up afternoon passenger train had arrived under charge of the late Conductor Woodman, and was stalled in the drifts. Of course he was anxious to get along and wanted the men to turn out and go to shoveling, but the wind blew so hard it was no use. In the morning, however, the wind went down and the road soon opened to travel.

Mr. Stewart had always wished to revisit his native Scotland, and last year he did so. Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk company, placed a pass in his hands to and from that country, with a check of $200 spending money, and he spent two and one-half months there.—[Ledger.

A New City.

Just now Millinocket is much in the public eye, and many have gone to work there. The following particulars about the great work now underway there will be of interest:

Three miles above Burnt Land rips, Millinocket, another settlement is rapidly being formed, the place being at Dolby rips. Seventy-five acres of land have been cleared and a crew of 200 men are at work clearing away the stumps and assembling stone for the rock crushers. Shacks and boarding houses for the laborers are fast going up. There are seven buildings, a large number of smaller ones and a large horse shed.

The work of building another highway on higher ground to avoid the higher level of the river that will be caused by the dam has been begun. The new highway will make a detour of about three miles to avoid the overflow caused by the waters of the dam. The steel was laid over the new trestle across Schoodic stream a week ago and reached Dolby rips on Wednesday night. The lower end of the trestle has been ready for the steel for several weeks but the work on the end of the line next to the junction has been delayed.

The first locomotive crossed the trestle on Thursday and the steel has been going down at the rate of from two-thirds to three-fourths of a mile a day since. The whole of the right of way is ready for the ties with the exception of about half a mile between the point where the road crosses the Schoodic stream and its junction with the main line. Here a stream shovel is making a great cut through a gravely knoll and a temporary track has been laid along the side of the unfinished cut. The trestle is about 600 feet in length, but is built only for temporary use and will be replaced before winter by a steel bridge with concrete foundations.

The new town is soon to have a supply of pure water. A Keystone well-drilling machine is a work, furnished by the Great Northern Paper company. At present the water from a spring is used, but as houses are being built on the sand hills above the water will soon be unfit to use. The well, which is being sunk by a prominent well-driller of Charleston, is over 100 feet deep now, and a small supply of water has been found and it is believed that 200 feet more will bring an abundant supply.

PARIS HILL.

Claim Every Thing in Sight.

We are told to "Render unto Ceaser the things that are Ceaser's," etc., and because "might makes right" the people of Paris have meekly (?) allowed South Paris to appropiate most anything they wanted except the town pump and Lemuel Jackson's grave stone. But now they find that even the citizens are not safe. There was little comment when South Paris claimed Mr. Atwood as a resident since his business interests were there, although they felt glad that his home is still at Paris. But now the man who lives at the extreme north end of Paris Hill village, and whose business is located two miles further than that from South Paris, is claimed (both the man and the mine) by that place. Well, patience, in time, ceases to be a virtue, hence this mild kick.

A. E. Davis of New York, was at Paris, last week.

The Funeral of Mrs. Lovering.

Died at her home in Oxford, Fore Street, Sept. 27th, Lizzie Lovering, wife of O. A. Lovering, aged 45 years.

Mrs. Lovering was the daughter of D. F. Cummings of Hebron. She leaves an aged father and mother, three brothers, Will, Charlie and Arthur, and one sister, Bertha, beside her husband and two sons, Frank and Fred.

Mrs. Lovering was a loved member of Norway Grange and of the Craigie Lodge of Sisterhood of Oxford. The two orders were present at the funeral, which occurred on Sunday. The sweet restful look on the face of the loved one deepened into a heavenly expression as we looked upon it encircled by the floral tributes of the brothers and sisters.

Mrs. Lovering was a true woman. Her first thought was always for her own home and friends. Social life had no fascination for her if husband or children, father or mother, brother or sister needed her assistance. A dutiful wife and mother, a loving daughter and sister has gone from us. Her pleasant face and friendly ways will be greatly missed. The floral offerings were many and very beautiful.

"Another hand is beckoning us,
Another call is given;
And glows once more with angel steps
The path which reaches Heaven.

"There seems a shadow on the day,
Her smile no longer cheers;
A dimness on the stars of night,
Like eyes that look through tears.

"Alone unto our Father's will
One thought hath reconciled;
That He whose love exceedeth ours
Hath taken home His child.

"Fold her, O Father! in Thine arms,
And let her henceforth be
A messenger of love between
Our human hearts and Thee.

"Still let her mild rebuking stand
Between us and the wrong,
And her dear memory serve to make
Our faith in Goodness strong.

"And grant that she who, trembling, here,
Distrusted all her powers,
May welcome to her holier home
The well beloved of ours."

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Trouble at the Electric Light Station.

It was something of a shower, Thursday evening. It thundered, lightened and poured. The electric lights were lowered on account of the run of eels in the wheel and finally lightning struck a pole and burnt out the switch board and the alternator on the big generator. This for a time caused a shut down and darkness prevailed.

A small generator was run and the electric crew worked repairing damages the rest of the night. Wednesday there was no power for the shoe factory and consequently the hands had a vacation. There came near being a serious fire at the station but they fortunately got it out.

Larger Engine for Pumping Station Needed.

The large engine for the Norway Water Power Company has arrived. It is a 300 horse power and built by the same firm as ties as were the others. The two pumps used last winter were not large enough to carry the load, hence the change for a larger one.

It will probably take a couple of weeks to get the engine connected up and during this time the steam plant will be run.

A suit of mail is the thing to wear in the woods these days.

Geo. A. Brooks says there were three inches of rain fell during the Tuesday evening shower.

Capt. W. W. Whitmarsh has removed that old landmark, the Whitcomb house, from his lot on Bridge street.

J. W. Prince and wife recently visited their mother, Mrs. S. B. Prince of Otisfield. They returned home the first of the week.

Della M. Noyes is visiting her mother, Mrs. Anna Noyes in Fryeburg, and relatives in Conway, N. H. Hattie Kimball went with her.

Porter L. Swift of U. of M. has been elected president of his class for the senior year. He is also president of the Phi Kappa Sigma society.

Interesting services were held at the Center church Sunday last. Three young ladies were baptized and received into the church. Communion followed. Services as usual at 1.30 o'clock next Sunday.

Flossie Buswell finished her duties as "hello girl" at the telephone office, Saturday evening. Mrs. Myrtle Bean takes her place. Fred Hunt is the operator.

Vivian Akers, a student at Hebron, spent Sunday at his father's, Charles Akers'. He was visited Saturday by two Hebron boys, Raymond Varney of Lawrence, Mass., and Charles Wilson of Hiram.

Norway friends of Irving Loring have received a letter from him written at Batangus, P. I., in which he states that he is suffering from rheumatism. He will finish service in 1908 and will visit his friends in the east and particularly his Norway friends.

The Pappoose pond fox hunters are getting ready to go to camp next week. It is understood that the same party as last year,—George E. Tubbs, I. C. Tubbs, A. P. Farnham, Norway; H. Harmon, Nathan Stewart and J. Slattery of Portland will be there. They give all the foxes in that section fair read the ADVERTISER warning.

John Hazalton of Westbrook was in Norway and attended the North Waterford fair last week. His friends were glad to see him that he could not walk the street without greetings being given him from all sides. Mr. Hazelton is conductor on the Portland Electric Railway System. He used to be one of the most popular teachers of dancing and prompters in this vicinity.

Norway people will be glad to learn from A. F. Marston and his mother, Mrs. Marston. For many years Mr. Marston was connected with the B. F. Spinney Co. shoe factory and a member of the firm, for several years the manager of the Norway factory and a resident of Norway. Mr. Marston is now at the head of the A. F. Marston Company, manufacturers of special shoes for ladies at Lynn, Mass. His factory while very large is crowded with shoes in the process of manufacture, and they are obliging to get more room for their business. His health is much better than when he was here. Mr. Marston and mother have spent the summer very pleasantly in the country in Middleton just out of the village on a hill from which is a very pretty view, though they will soon return to the city for the winter.
